FARM LIFE SCHOOL WILL OPEN IN FALL

Work on Craven County's New Institution Soon Will Be Started.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Newbern, N. C., April 26.—Work on Craven County's proposed farm life school is to start at an early date, and according to a statement made by Dr. J. E. Turlington, who is to have charge of the new institution, it will be in readiness for opening by the latter part of September. Last Saturday the board of trustees met in this city and received bids for the construction of the school. There were nine bids received for this work, but owing to the fact that the trustees wanted time in which to look them over the contract was not awarded. The citizens of the entire county are enthusiastic over this proposed school and are doing everything in their power to aid it. Some of the most prominent citizens of the county are among the trustees, and the class of work which will be done, but in the person of Dr. J. E. Turlington, who came here from the faculty of the Georgia Agricultural and Mechanical College, there is no doubt but that the work has been secured. This school will be the first of its kind in this State, and it is for this reason that the trustees are anxious that it be conducted in such a manner that it will be a complete success. For if it proves such, several other counties will vote bond for similar institutions and maintenance of the equipment of the school. The school is a joint board of trustees, and the trustees of which this kind of work and other lines for the development of the two towns are getting together in a very satisfactory manner. Great good is expected to flow from this movement.
